DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 11, 2003, has been entered.

Response to Arguments

2. The prior art rejections based upon Stover, Hintermeyer, and Lyden, as set forth in the prior Office Actions, have been withdrawn due to applicant's arguments presented in the interview of July 8, 2003. However, an updated search of the prior art has produced the following new rejections.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 10-12 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1771

5. Claims 10-12 and 15-17 are indefinite for claiming the invention in terms of physical properties rather than the chemical or structural features that produce said properties. Ex parte Slob, 157 USPQ 172, states, "Claims merely setting forth physical characteristics desired in an article, and not setting forth specific composition which would meet such characteristics, are invalid as vague, indefinite, and functional since they cover any conceivable combination of ingredients either presently existing or which might be discovered in the future and which would impart said desired characteristics." Also, "it is necessary that the product be described with sufficient particularity that it can be identified so that one can determine what will and will not infringe." Benger Labs, Ltd v. R.K. Laros Co., 135 USPQ 11, In re Bridgeford 149 USPQ 55, Locklin et al. v. Switzer Bros., Inc., 131 USPQ 294. Furthermore, "Reciting the physical and chemical characteristics of the claimed product will not suffice where it is not certain that a sufficient number of characteristics have been recited that the claim reads only on the particular compound which applicant has invented." Ex parte Siddiqui, 156 USPQ 426, Ex parte Davission et al., 133 USPQ 400, Ex parte Fox, 128 USPQ 157. In the instant case, the claims are not sufficiently described in terms of structure and/or composition to clearly identify the actual invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1771

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 10, 11, and 15-17 are rejected under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by, or in the alternative, under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 06-047363 issued to Chikamori.

Applicant claims a cover which comprises a laminate of (a) a porous polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE) layer having an average pore size of 0.2-10 microns, preferably, 0.3-3 microns, adhered to (b) at least one woven, nonwoven, or knit fabric of polyester, polyacrylate, polypropylene, or a fluoropolymer. The laminate is intended for use in the aerobic treatment of biodegradable material and has a specified air permeability, water entry pressure, a Ret value, and tensile strength. Additionally, the surface of the laminate facing toward the biodegradable material has a specified oil rating.

Chikamori discloses a landfill treatment laminate comprising an air-permeable reinforcement sheet and a porous film (abstract). The porous film is preferably a porous expanded PTFE film having a pore size of less than 1 micron (section [0005]). The air-permeable reinforcement sheet may be a nonwoven fabric or other textile (section [0005]).

Thus, Chikamori teaches the presently claimed chemical and structural features of the claimed invention (i.e., a laminate comprising a porous PTFE having the specified pore size adhered to at least one fabric. As such, it is reasonable to presume that the Chikamori invention inherently possesses the claimed physical properties of air permeability, water entry pressure,

Art Unit: 1771

Ret value, and oil rating. Support for said presumption is found in the use of like materials for a like end use. The burden is upon applicant to prove otherwise. In re Fitzgerald, 205 USPQ 495. In the alternative, the claimed properties would obviously have been provided by the invention disclosed by Chikamori. Note In re Best, 195 USPQ 433, footnote 4 (CCPA 1977) as to the providing of this rejection under 35 USC 103 in addition to the rejection made above under 35 USC 102.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over the cited Chikamori patent.

Chikamori fails to teach a specific material for the fabric layer. However, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to employ a polyester, polyacrylate, polypropylene, or fluoropolymer fabric for said fabric, since these fabrics are well known in the art and it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. Therefore, claim 12 is rejected.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
